PRODUCTIVITY TOOLS

HOW TO GET RESULTS WITH A QUICK, GOOD ENOUGH APPROACH

Recent years have provided a lot of productivity tools that require little time to deliver results. Balancing these tools with a structural, strategic approach has shown to be an excellent way forward for short-term results and long-term commitment.

Unicon Solutions has used multiple productivity tools to be more efficient and faster while delivering good enough quality to satisfy our short-term needs.

Unicon Solutions is happy to share that experience with its customers. It is surprising how a few days of work (or even hours) can already provide a basic solution.

Information gathering, basic workflows, basic PMO and project monitoring, task management are just a few examples of services that can be piloted as a basic solution and potentially transformed in a later stage to a more integrated solution for the long term.

Unicon Solutions is able to implement first example templates that can serve as a knowledge transfer for your team. Little training is needed to deliver the first results to build on.

Unicon Solutions is unique in taking ownership and responsibility while ensuring knowledge transfer and continuous monitoring of the requested deliverables.

Experience is the pragmatic way to do things even better !
